Who is God to Muslims?

Prayer

Muslims pray five times a day.

The prayers happen at different times of the day, even when people are busy, so Allah is always important.

Muslims pray by standing, bowing, and sitting.

Sometimes Muslims pray together at a mosque, which is a special place for worship.

Prayer is a quiet and peaceful time where Muslims talk to Allah and feel calm.

Prayer helps Muslims say thank you to Allah and ask for help or forgiveness.

Allah

Allah is very important to Muslims. Muslims believe Allah made everything and is in charge of the whole world.

Islam means "to listen and obey Allah." Muslims try to follow Allah to feel peace and happiness.

Muslims believe Allah is perfect, kind, and fair. He takes care of everything and everyone.

Muslims have 99 special names for Allah.

Muslims do not draw pictures of Allah because He is too special and no one can see what He looks like.

Allah is very kind and will forgive people when they say sorry and try to do better.

Muslims show love for Allah by praying, being kind, and doing good things.

Muslims believe Allah gave them life and the world, so they try to thank Him by doing their best.
