Christian beliefs about Agape

Jesus taught his followers, “As I have loved you, so must you love one another.”

Members of the Christian Church show love to members of society in many ways.

Ways Christians show agape:

- Visit the sick
- Help in food banks or homeless shelters
- Become a street pastor
- Promote fair trade
- Work with young people.

Humanist Beliefs

Humanists are people who feel that we can not know for sure whether or not God exists.

The focus of Humanists’ attention is on what can be achieved in this life – as it is the only life we have.

Humanism is an approach to life rather than a religion.

Humanists make sense of the world through logic, reason, and evidence, and always seek to treat others with warmth, understanding, and respect.

Some Humanists are agnostic, which means that they do not believe in the existence of any God or higher being.

Humanists celebrate life events, such as marriage, but this is not done so in a religious way.

The Sermon on the Mount

The Sermon on the Mount is a collection of sayings and moral teachings from Jesus found in the Gospel of Matthew. It includes some of the best known teachings, including the Beatitudes and the Lord’s Prayer.
